Art Unit: 3728

1. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the reference numerals used therein should be in parentheses. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 10-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 10, "is at least partly transparent or semi-transparent" is alternatively indefinite and should be --is one of at least partly transparent and semi-transparent--. See also claim 18, lines 1-2.

In claim 11, lines 2-3, "the transparent or semi-transparent part" lacks antecedent basis.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 10-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 2001141686 in view of either one of Yamamoto et al. (4,889,229) and Swain (3,139,976). JP 2001141686 discloses a sensor-container combination comprising a container (3) and a plurality of sensors stored in the container. Yamamoto et al. and Swain each disclose providing a container (11; 11; respectively) that is transparent and provided with a scale (15; 17 and 18) to allow viewing and determining the remaining content of the container. To modify the container of JP 2001141686 employing the transparent scaled container teaching of either one of Yamamoto et al. and Swain would have been obvious in order to ascertain the remaining content of the sensor container, as suggested by either one of Yamamoto et al. and Swain.

As to claim 12, to provide a lid to a container would have been obvious in order to close the container after filling and render openable and reclosable, considered to be notoriously old and well-known, official notice being so taken.

As to claims 13-17, to employ sensors having lightfastness, an apparently known quality in view of applicant's disclosure and discussion thereof, would have been an obvious substitution of interchangeable sensors in the combination.

As to claim 18, to provide the container as part transparent and part non-transparent is not new in general, and such is not seen to provide any new or unexpected by its provision.

6. Claims 13-17 are further rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the art as applied to claim 10 above, and further in view of any one of Say et al. (6,464,849), Feldman et al. (6,461,496) and Say et al. (6,175,752). Each discloses sensors that are composed of materials resistant to ultraviolet light, therefor having inherent lightfastness. To modify the claimed container of JP 2001141686 employing a particular sensor therein would have been obvious, the choice such as per any one of the Say et al. references and Feldman et al. being an obvious substitution to one of ordinary skill in the art.

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Stewart et al. discloses a partially transparent container. Flener discloses a scaled container.
